We would like to have your views about what kinds of electoral outcomes are good and bad in a democracy. We are going to show you 5 different scenarios. In each scenario there are 3 pieces of information about the outcome of the election:

1. The percentage of votes that each party gets, from the most popular to the least popular.
2. The percentage of seats that each party gets in parliament
3. The composition of government: which party(ies) form(s) the government.

We would like you to tell us how good or bad such an electoral outcome is for democracy.

Note: Each respondent only saw 5 out of 15 scenarios (random). There is a missing value for the scenario that they did not see. The order of the scenarios appeared on the respondent's screen is captured in the variable FL_85_DO.

For instance, "Scenario2|Scenario10|Scenario12|Scenario8|Scenario11" (coded with letters).

Note also: The information about the year and country were NOT shown to the respondents

In your opinion, how good or bad for democracy is such an outcome, on a 0 to 10 scale where 0 means very bad and 10 very good.

1- Very bad	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11- Very good	12-Don't know	13-Refusal

Q13C. [Country] should not accept new migrants

1-Strongly agree	2-Somewhat agree	3- Neither agree nor disagree	4-Somewhat disagree	5-Strongly disagree	6-Don't know	7- Refusal
------------------	------------------	-------------------------------	---------------------	---------------------	--------------	------------

A recent study shows that [NUMBER]% of the population in [COUNTRY] says that the country has overall benefited from being a member of the EU

Note: The sample is randomly divided into a control group and an experimental group. The experimental group receives the following pieces of information, whereas the control group does not. The responses are in Q14T for the treatment group and Q14C for the control group. If a participant is in the control group, there will be a missing value for Q14T (and vice versa).

Note also: Respondents of the treatment group only see the number from their country, respondents from the control group see nothing. No treatment and no question for Norway.

Country	% benefiting from EU	Country	% benefiting from EU
Austria	60	Great Britain	60
Belgium	75	Greece	54
Denmark	84	Netherlands	78

Q17A. We live in countries in which citizens vote for politicians who then make decisions on various topics.

People sometimes talk about the possibility of letting a group of citizens decide instead of politicians. These citizens will be selected by lot within the population and would then gather and deliberate for several days in order to make policy decisions, like politicians do in parliament.

Here is a list of policy issues. Could you, for each of them, indicate whether you think that is a good idea to let a group of randomly selected make decisions instead of politicians on 0 (very bad idea) to 10 (very good idea)?

Note: Even if there are no randomization for this question, Qualtrics has separated the answer depending of the groups of the participant in the previous questions. There are thus two variables per question (Q17C_1 and Q17T_1...).

Q17C_1/Q17T_1. European integration

1- Very bad idea	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11- Very good idea	12-Don't know	13-Refusal

------------------	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	----	--------------------	---------------	------------

Q17C_3/Q17T_3. Social benefits

1- Very bad idea	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11- Very good idea	12-Don't know	13-Refusal
------------------	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	----	--------------------	---------------	------------

Q17B_1. Overall, do you think it is a good idea to let a group of randomly-selected citizens make decisions instead of politicians on a scale going from 0 (very bad idea) to 10 (very good idea)?

1- Very bad idea	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11- Very good idea	12-Don't know	13-Refusal
------------------	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	----	--------------------	---------------	------------

Extra Module 2

Note: The sample is randomly split into six experimental groups. Respondents from each group receive one of the 6 pieces of information.

Note also: The group of each participant is captured in the variable FL_20_DO. This variable is coded with letter ("G1", "G2" ...)

Imagine the following hypothetical situation:

[Group1]

(IF RESPONDENT MENTIONS A PARTY IN Q4) A [PARTY IN VOTE CHOICE QUESTION] politician is suspected of having awarded overpriced government contracts in exchange for bribes.

(IF RESPONDENT DOES NOT MENTION A PARTY IN Q4) A politician of your preferred party is suspected of having awarded overpriced government contracts in exchange for bribes.

[Group2]

A politician is suspected of awarding overpriced government contracts in exchange for bribes.

[Group3]

(IF RESPONDENT MENTIONS A PARTY IN Q4) A politician from [PARTY IN VOTE CHOICE QUESTION] is suspected of deliberately spreading false information about opposing candidates.

(IF RESPONDENT DOES NOT MENTION A PARTY IN Q4) A politician of your preferred party is suspected of deliberately spreading false information about opposing candidates.

[Group4]

A politician is suspected of deliberately spreading false information about opponents.

[Group5]

(IF RESPONDENT MENTIONS A PARTY IN Q4) A politician from [PARTY IN VOTE CHOICE QUESTION] is suspected of systematically allocating top positions to unqualified party officials.

(IF RESPONDENT DOES NOT MENTION A PARTY IN Q4) A politician of your preferred party is suspected of having systematically assigned top positions to unqualified party officials.

[Group6]

A politician is suspected of having systematically awarded top positions to unqualified party officials.

Note: The order of Q18A-C is randomized. The order is captured in variable Question18_DO. The variable is coded with letter, for "Q18A|Q18B|Q18C"

Q18A. To what extent do you consider the behaviour of the politician to be morally acceptable or morally unacceptable?

1- Completely morally unacceptable	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11- Completely morally acceptable	12- Don't know	13- Refusal

Please indicate whether you agree or disagree with the following statement:

Q29A. Automation and artificial intelligence will make economic inequality worse in the future, with the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer.

1-Strongly agree	2-Somewhat agree	3- Neither agree nor disagree	4-Somewhat disagree	5-Strongly disagree	6-Don't know	7- Refusal
------------------	------------------	-------------------------------	---------------------	---------------------	--------------	------------

Q28B. In the future, will automation and artificial intelligence make it easier for poor people to become richer, or harder?

1-Easier	2-Harder	3-Not sure	4-Refusal

Governments are increasingly looking to algorithms and artificial intelligence to improve the work that they do.

By algorithms, we mean a step-by-step procedure for solving a problem or answering a question, which is undertaken by a computer, rather than a human decision maker. Algorithms and artificial intelligence describe a lot of different technologies. For now, however, we'd like you to think about the reasons why government might use these technologies.

For example, a government might use a series of algorithms to determine whether a person should have their tax filing audited. Or, an official might use an algorithm to decide whether a small business should receive a government loan, who should be prioritized in a hospital waiting room, or who should receive extra financial aid for college or university. In each case, the algorithm would take the place of a human decision maker. Artificial intelligence might be used to help learn from and improve those decisions.

Below are eight different reasons why governments might use algorithmic decision making and artificial intelligence to make decisions. Please tell us which reasons you think are acceptable or unacceptable, or whether you are just not sure about them.

How acceptable are the following reasons for governments to use algorithms and AI to make decisions?

Q31A. To reduce the time required to make decisions.

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Q31B. To make decisions which will be a better use of government money.

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Q31C. To make sure decisions are not influenced by factors like a program recipient's gender, ethnicity, or wealth.

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Q31D. To make sure decisions are not influenced by officials' biases.

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Q31E. To reduce fraud against the government.

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Q31F. To make decisions which are more consistent and less "random".

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Q31G. To reduce the number of bureaucrats/government officials.

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Q31H. To reduce the costs of government.

1-Acceptable	2-Unacceptable	3-Not sure	4-Refusal
--------------	----------------	------------	-----------

Note: Respondents are randomly divided into 4 groups. The group is captured by variable FL_39_DO. The variable is coded with letter (LT1 for "Group1", LT2 for "Group2" ...)

[Group 1]

Imagine a hospital that has an administrator that assigns surgeons to patients. One day, a surgeon is working on a patient in a critical condition, when five more patients arrive at the hospital in need of care. If the administrator decides to re-assign the surgeon, the surgeon's current patient will die, but the surgeon will be able to save the five new patients. If they do not re-assign the surgeon, then the current patient will live, but the five new patients will die.

The administrator decides not to re-assign the surgeon

LT1_1. Did the administrator make the right decision?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal
-------	------	--------------	-----------

LT1_2. Would you trust the decisions of the administration in the future?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal
-------	------	--------------	-----------

[Group2]

Imagine a hospital that has an administrator that assigns surgeons to patients. One day, a surgeon is working on a patient in a critical condition, when five more patients arrive at the hospital in need of care. If the administrator decides to re-assign the surgeon, the surgeon's current patient will die, but the surgeon will be able to save the five new patients. If they do not re-assign the surgeon, then the current patient will live, but the five new patients will die.

The administration decides to re-assign the surgeon

LT2_1. Did the administrator make the right decision?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal
-------	------	--------------	-----------

LT2_2. Would you trust the decisions of the administrator in the future?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal
-------	------	--------------	-----------

[Group3]

Imagine a hospital that has an algorithm that assigns surgeons to patients. One day, a surgeon is working on a patient in a critical condition, when five more patients arrive at the hospital in need of care. If the algorithm decides to re-assign the surgeon, the surgeon's current patient will die, but the surgeon will be able to save the five new patients. If it does not re-assign the surgeon, then the current patient will live, but the five new patients will die.

The algorithm decides not to re-assign the surgeon

LT3_1. Did the algorithm make the right decision?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal

LT3_2. Would you trust the decisions of the algorithm in the future?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal
-------	------	--------------	-----------

[Group4]

Imagine a hospital that has an algorithm that assigns surgeons to patients. One day, a surgeon is working on a patient in a critical condition, when five more patients arrive at the hospital in need of care. If the algorithm decides to re-assign the surgeon, the surgeon's current patient will die, but the surgeon will be able to save the five new patients. If it does not re-assign the surgeon, then the current patient will live, but the five new patients will die.

The algorithm decides to re-assign the surgeon

LT4_1. Did the algorithm make the right decision?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal
-------	------	--------------	-----------

LT42. Would you trust the decisions of the algorithm in the future?

1-Yes	2-No	3-Don't know	4-Refusal
-------	------	--------------	-----------
